- Get career advice and support in Northern Ireland:
The Careers Service offers a range of services to help you find the right career, including phone and online chat advice, help with job applications, and information on skills in demand.
- Explore your options:
The nidirect website has a wealth of information on different career paths, including job descriptions, salary ranges, and required qualifications. You can also use the search function to find specific careers that match your interests and skills.
- Make a career plan:
Once you have identified some potential careers, it is important to develop a plan to achieve your goals. This might involve getting additional qualifications, gaining work experience, or building your network.
- Get help with your job search:
The Careers Service can help you with all aspects of your job search, from writing your CV to preparing for interviews. They can also provide you with information on job vacancies in your area.
- Support for young people:
The nidirect website has a dedicated section for parents and carers of young people making career choices. This section includes information on helping your child explore their options, develop their skills, and find the right career path.
